Army Flyers Ready To Go
When Storm Conditions
Are Moderated

(International News Service)
Hampered by one of the most severe snow storms in years in the eastern section of the country, storms, rains and poor visibility in the far west and biting cold weather in the middle west, the army air service today grimly went about its task of assuming responsibility for the transportation of the air mail.

At an early hour today, commanding officers at the eastern zone base of the air corps at Floyd Bennett Field, New York, estimated that service would be maintained over less than one-third of the regularly constituted air mail routes.

See Break In Weather.
There were, however, indications that a "break" in the weather was on the way and the army flyers were ready to start work on their new jobs immediately.

All the preliminaries have been dispensed with; the ships are serviced and the men ready. It's up to the weather.

At Newark Airport the scheduled first flight of the day, a 5:30 a. m. departure for Chicago with the air-mail collected overnight in New-York, was called off "indefinitely."

officer.

A large United Air Liner from Cleveland landed safely at the field at 7:30 a. m. and stalled in a snow-bank. It was not carrying mail.

The storm over the Alleghenies stopped air mail service east of Pittsburgh. Mail arriving from Chicago was continued east by train.

The middle west reported good flying weather and extreme cold but the Rockies were shrouded in fog and snow.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Despite the fact that snow is on the ground, one local downtown merchant decorated his window with an entire line of spring clothes Monday.

One thermometer at 8 this morning showed five degrees below zero and less than 12 feet from 'another registered zero. But the point, we'll all agree, is that it was cold!

Speaking of the cold, PA New has often wondered what a thermometer hung on the top of the Couth House tower would register these mornings. Or perhaps on the top of the First Christian church.

Schools of the city are making preparations for observing George Washington's birthday with exercises fitting to the occasion.

There's to be a celebration at the

INDICATIONS PROTEST ON POST OFFICE IS UNHEEDED

By ARTHUR C. WIMER,
Special Washington Correspondent,
New Castle News
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Although no official announcement was forthcoming, it appeared today that A. W. Kutsche would be allowed to proceed with the New Castle post office under the order permitting him to substitute limestone for sandstone.

After conferences with new public building officials, Congressman Swick said it was his impression construction would be continued.
The congressman, however, expects to receive a letter from Architect Eckles in the immediate future and will again seek to have the limestone order rescinded.

Strenuous Protests Wired By Architects On Post Office Order

Expressing surprise over the news from Washington that formal authority had been granted A. W.
Kutsche & Company to complete
New Castle's new post office with limestone instead of sandstone, the W. G. Eckles company, in a statement issued today, revealed that the company had telegraphed strenuous protests of the change "as architects for the building and on behalf of this community" direct to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and United States Senator David A.
Reed and are now in communication with Congressman J. Howard Swick.

The statement was issued by Robert
A. Eckles, and follows:
"We were very much surprised to read in The News that the treasury department has authorized the completion of the New Castle post office in limestone. At the last con-

Soles Testifies In Own Behalf

McKeesport Man Tells Of Home Life Prior To Wife's Death

GIVES DETAILS OF
WIFE'S EXPERIENCES

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 20.—In a tense, dramatic setting, Robert S.
Soles, McKeesport ex-army captain, bared details of his home life from the witness stand in his trial for the murder of his wife, Laroux, here today.

Stepping briskly to the stand,
Soles, accused of firing a fatal bullet into the body of his attractive wife, fought for his life while the commonwealth seeks as punishment for the crime a life in prison.

Tells Of Man In Case
In a clear voice, he painted a word picture of his and his wife's domestic relations preceding the tragedy which ended in the death of Mrs.
Soles last June. He told of discovering the "man in the case," William S. Martin, real estate operator of Teaneck, N. J., who met Mrs. Soles on the sands of Miami Beach in the winter of 1933.

He also told of his wife receiving a letter from Martin signed Mrs.
William Sibley, asking her for $40 to obtain urgent hospital treatment after her return from Florida.

"I heard Mrs. Soles crying, so I jumped out of bed and ran into the living room," the defendant stated. "She was lying on the floor with her head against the davenport."

"I said here, here, what's the matter. She said: 'It's that man, that letter.'"

After we both had read the letter
she called my attention to a man named Martin. She told of her relations with him.

After recounting incidents which transpired between that time and the night of the shooting, Soles admitted he was at the home of Mrs.
Rosa Hardy in McKeesport until about 1:30 on the fatal night. It was after that hour he returned home to find his wife's body, a bullet wound near the heart, on the floor of the bedroom, he testified.

Truck Driver Exonerated In Death Of Girl

Coroner's Jury Holds Death
Of Rachael Byler Was Accidental

INQUEST HELD AT
NEW WILMINGTON

Jury In Case Is Composed Of Well Known New Wilmington Men

After hearing the testimony of witnesses, a coroner's jury, sitting in the New Wilmington Borough Building Monday afternoon, exonerated John W.
Ward, of Oil City, of negligence in the death of Rachael Byler, of Wilmington township, who was instantly killed when she was knocked from a buggy in which she was riding by an oil truck driven by Ward, Sunday evening, February 11.

The testimony of most of the witnesses agreed as to the details of the accident. No evidence was produced to show that Ward was operating his truck in a careless or negligent manner, although Eli Byler, driver of the buggy in which the girl was riding, was also shown to have been giving his buggy along his own side of the street and was conforming to all traffic laws when his rig was struck.

The jury was composed of New Wilmington men, S. E. Calhoun,
"Al" R. Hawk, W. B. Gilliland,
John H. Lewis, Elmer E. Sharp and J. W. Williamson.

Termed Accident
Their verdict was to the effect that Rachael Byler had come to her death as a result of a collision between the truck operated by Ward and a buggy driven by Eli Byler, and that in their opinion, it was accidental.

Moses Hochstetler, of the Volant-
New Wilmington road, was the first witness called by Coroner Orville Potter. He told of coming into New Wilmington on the evening of

Intense Blizzard Sweeps New York

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—New York awoke this morning to find itself literally snowbound as a blizzard of unparalleled intensity swept through the canyons between its tall buildings.

All forms of transportation except the subway suffered one of the worst tie-ups since the legendary blizzard of '88.

It was impossible for thousands of New Yorkers living in the boroughs outside of Manhattan to come to work.

Many more suburbanites were snowbound. Trains were running, although far behind schedules, and many could not get to the stations.

Westchester and Long Island suburbs were covered with two feet of snow which the strong wind piled in places into drifts several feet high. It was by far the heaviest snowfall of the winter in these sections.

The weather bureau reported that seven or eight inches of snow had fallen in Manhattan during the night and that the snowfall possibly would pass the 24 hour record of the winter which was ten inches.

The ferries from New Jersey and Staten Island slowly nosed their way through the blinding swirl of snow, their passage made the more difficult and slower by great fields of floating ice which descended on the harbor in the last two days.

Loudon In Army Air Mail Service

New Castle Youth At Center
Of Operations At Floyd
Bennett Field

In the organization of the army flying service to carry the mail, a New Castle youth, George Loudon, was transferred from Virginia to New York and is now located at Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn. He is located in the Zone Engineer's office, U. S. Army Air Mail Operations, at the past week he states that the corps has been working night and day.

Changing the army planes over from military planes to mail carriers was quite a job, Loudon says.
Armament had to be taken off and radio and blind flying equipment installed and the rush order kept everybody busy until late every night.

Loudon was first transferred to Newark, N. J., but the area there was too small for the operations of his unit and the transfer to Brooklyn followed.

(International News Service)
BROOKVILLE, Pa., Feb.
20.—Trapped in their rooms in the hospital building of the Pennsylvania Memorial Home, ten aged women met a horrible death as flames demolished the one-story frame structure while the mercury hung below the zero mark here today.

Awakened by the shrill cry of a night nurse, who discovered the flames as they roared through the 50-year-old structure, three women jumped from their beds and ran to safety while two others were rescued. The majority of the victims, asleep and unconscious of the danger died in their beds.

Their charred bodies, found on the bed springs after the flames died out, told the gruesome story.
List Of Victims.
Victims of the conflagration that swept the building maintained for the widows and women relatives of civil war veterans all were Pennsylvanians.

They were:
Mrs. Elizabeth Loveland, 76, Moocove; Mrs. Helena Setley, 75, Tion-

84, Reading.

Five Escape.
Mrs. Lavina McGroody, 83, Reynoldsville, and Mrs. Cora Bruce, 63, DuBois, were pulled to safety thru a window but not before flames scorched the face and hands of the former.

Mrs. Rebecca Gresh, 68, Cool Springs; and Mrs. Dianthe McFarland, 83, Clarion; dashed in their night attire into the freezing open spaces with their lives.

Behind remained their worldly possessions and their ten companions, trapped by the leaping flames and blinding smoke to meet a bitter end.

Although not definitely ascertained, defective electrical wiring is believed to have started the fire in a wash room near the kitchen.

BELGIANS PAY HOMAGE TO DECEASED KING

Public Files Past His Bier

Body Of King Albert Lies In State In Royal Palace At Brussels

SON PREPARES TO ASSUME DUTIES

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT International News Service Staff Correspondent

BRUSSELS, Feb. 20.—The body of King Albert, great and beloved king of the Belgians, today lay in state in Brussels Palace, there to receive for two days further homage from his people.

His flower-bedecked coffin was in a mortuary chapel of the Royal Palace, and today and tomorrow the public will be permitted to file past the bier in a final, silent tribute to a true leader whom the whole world recognized and respected.

Great Crowds Collect

Great crowds collected outside the palace as Belgians, in orderly manner, awaited their turn for a last glimpse of their monarch.

Hundreds of thousands sought a view of the king. As quickly as people filed through the sombre chapel, more joined the line outside the palace.

Even as Belgium mourned Albert, who will be buried with a great state funeral Thursday, eyes were turned toward the youthful Leopold, the son who on Friday will be proclaimed Leopold III, king of the Belgians.

Wondering how well he would be able to fill the shoes of his father during this internally critical period, all agreed he promised much.

No Quarter For Fascism

In particular, public and high officials alike were of the opinion that Fascism, which has spread into Belgium, would be given no quarter under Leopold.

Leopold is strongly impregnated with his father's ideals and belief in Democratic liberties under the constitution.

Last night he received his first testimonial of faith when the Socialists, who represent two-fifths of the national vote, decided to participate for the first time in a parliamentary address to a new sovereign on Friday.

Thursday's funeral will be held in the Cathedral Church of St. Gudule. Following the service, King Albert will be laid to rest in the Royal crypt at the Chateau de Laeken.

Mayor Banishes Some Magazines From Sale Here

Within the near future it will be possible for children and also for adults who dislike to see what they believe to be obscene literature, displayed in the city of New Castle.

This is one of the outgrowths of the mass meeting held Sunday by men in response to the call of the Law and Order committee of the Ministerial Association.

It is reported that one of the members of the Ministerial Association furnished what he considered to be an obscene magazine to Mayor Mayne. The city's chief executive gazed at the photograph on the front cover, perused its contents and not long afterward asked that a local businessman confer with him.

It was learned that the magazines were sent from New York to this city and that they have been offered for sale. The mayor talked to several other businessmen and they agreed they would not "handle the magazine in the future."

ville, ran through the building uttering a cry for help and a warning to the sleeping women.

Nelson Mathers, janitor at the home, came to her rescue but her rescue efforts were of little use as the crackling timbers folded one by one under the scorching blaze.

The Brookville fire department responded but the bitter cold defeated its efforts. Attaches of the home said the majority of fire plugs in that vicinity were frozen.

Approximately one half hour after it was discovered, the blaze had completed its destruction of property and human lives, only smoldering ruins remained.

Main Building Untouched

The three story main building of brick construction, a laundry, and barn, all nearby, escaped the flames. Horror stricken inmates of these stood by and offered silent hopes as they viewed the conflagration snuffing out the lives of 10 of their companions. They would have gallantly rendered assistance but the headway the fire had obtained and the cold night made rescue efforts futile.

The memorial home is owned by the department of Pennsylvania Women's Relief Corps. It is a state aided institution which provides homes for about 40 women.

While home and city officials prepared to remove the charred bodies of the victims to the morgue, an investigation was launched to determine the exact cause of the blaze. The work locating and notifying relatives of the victims went forward while those rescued were given medical treatment to quiet their nerves.

Physicians who examined Mrs. McGrody said her burns were not severe.

ARMY AIR MAIL SERVICE DELAYED BY BAD WEATHER

Francisco-Salt Lake City route was under way from Sacramento, Cal., by "bad weather over the Sierras."

The first army plane to take mail from Salt Lake City for Los Angeles grounded at Milford, Utah.

The dispatch of mail from Los Angeles east via Salt Lake City last night was sent by train because of the weather.

Despite the weather, however, the Western Express transport left Los Angeles on schedule last night carrying the last load of mail allowed it. It planned to drop the mail at Las Vegas, Nev., and continue without it as it would be illegal to carry it after midnight.

Two army flyers en route from their Riverside, Cal., base to their mail assignments at Los Angeles and San Francisco were forced down yesterday by the weather.

The army plane starting the mail on the Dallas, Texas, Cleveland, O., route last night lacked space for all the mail. Some had to be sent by train.

Mail Goes Through

Newark, N. J., Feb. 20.—The army brought the mail through today.

Out of a driving snowstorm, Lieut. Donald Wackwitz of the 9th observation group, Mitchell field, shortly before noon today brought a big army bomber gracefully down on Newark airport with a load of air mail from Chicago and western points.

Wackwitz left Chicago at 2:45 a. m. today and checked out of Cleveland at 7:30 a. m.

Army officers here anxiously awaited word of him, their fears heightened by the bad weather prevailing over the dangerous Allegheny mountain stretch of the air-mail run.

Wackwitz was due at Newark at 10:45 a. m. and as the time passed the anxiety of waiters increased.

Then, just after 11:30 o'clock, the roar of the big bomber's motors was heard through the storm and a few minutes later the army pilot set his ship down as mechanics rushed out to transfer the mail to trucks, for transport to the postoffice.

Crack-up In South.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Feb. 20.—The first army air mail flight from Atlanta to Richmond, ended in a crashup here today when Lieut. E. T. Gorman overshot the landing field as he descended in a blinding storm.

The plane was badly damaged, but Lieut. Gorman escaped without injury.

Gorman circled the landing field five times in the storm trying to locate the boundaries of the field and the wind direction. He finally brought the ship down but overshot the field and his plane struck a hedge and nosed over.

Rumor Says Report On Canal Held Up By Political Moves

By ARTHUR C. WIMER Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—According to reports here, political manipulation may have delayed indefinitely what was rumored as a favorable recommendation on the Beaver and Mahoning canalization to Youngstown.

It is reported that certain Pittsburgh interests, against any canal not including Pittsburgh, have negotiated through Joseph Guffey, Democratic leader of Pennsylvania, to hold up the report on the Beaver and Mahoning improvement to Youngstown until after congress has adjourned. Events of the next few days may affirm or deny this rumor.

Plans Switched

It is pretty generally believed here that within a few days the Chief of the Army Engineers was to have recommended the Beaver and Mahoning project. As late as February 9, Congressman J. Howard Swick had it on good authority such recommendations were being prepared. Then suddenly army engineers reported that another survey had been ordered.

This survey will be based on the reports of Chief Engineer Kutz in 1925 in which he advanced four routes for the canal. One of these was by way of Pittsburgh. It is now said that Pittsburgh interests suddenly jumped into the picture, got the backing of Mr. Guffey and had a new survey ordered, with the result that the favorable report on the Beaver and Mahoning improvement to Youngstown may be indefinitely put off.

It is impossible to officially verify this report here. However, continued delay of the report on the Beaver and Mahoning development, which has already been voted by the Board of Rivers and Harbors, would seem to confirm the rumor.

February 11, between nine and ten o'clock. He was driving a small wagon with a top, he said.

He saw the Byler buggy approaching him along Neshaunock avenue, a short distance from the Hoagland home, when a big oil truck, of the trailer type, passed him, and then crashed into the Byler buggy.

He did not see the actual collision, he stated, as the truck obscured his view. He stopped his rig and when the truck had passed, saw the Byler girl on the street. The driver came back, looked at the girl, then got into his truck and drove it to the side of the street. There were street lights at that point, he stated, the accident occurring almost underneath one.

Had Fractured Skull

Dr. H. M. Hart testified to being called to the scene of the accident, and found the Byler girl in the kitchen of the Hoagland home, where she had been carried following the accident. She was dead when he arrived, the doctor stated, death having been due to a fracture at the top of the cranium.

Sam Byler, driving a buggy just behind the one in which the crash victim was riding with Eli Byler, told of seeing the rig of Hochstetler and the oil truck approaching. He also noticed the buggy of Eli Byler ahead of him and in front of that, the buggy of William Byler. There was a light on the Byler buggy, and just as the accident happened, he noticed that Eli Byler had the two right wheels over the curb of the street.

The buggy was badly smashed by the collision he stated, and all the occupants were hurled out.

William Byler, driving a buggy ahead of Eli Byler, said he did not hear the crash, but was attracted by the screams of the occupants of the buggies behind. He turned around and came back after the collision and found Rachael Byler lying in the street as previously testified to.

Emma Mast, who was riding in the buggy of Sam Byler, gave testimony similar to that of the driver.

Robert Rose, of 193 Beechwood Road, New Wilmington, who was in the Hoagland home, opposite the scene of the accident, gave a graphic description of it.

He was just walking past the front door when he heard the crash, and, throwing open the door, saw the buggy as it was hurled against the telephone pole on the north side of the street.

Hurled Against Pole

His idea of the accident was that Rachael Byler was hurled against the telephone pole and then fell back into the street. The truck stopped within ten feet, he stated, and the driver came back.

He rushed across the street and looked at Rachael Byler, and then took out his handkerchief and placed it over her head. Someone threw him a blanket out of one of the buggies and with William Staples and James Blocher, he carried Rachael Byler into the Hoagland home.

He said the driver asked that a doctor be called and did all he could to aid, although there was little he could do.

Driver Of Buggy Testifies

Eli Byler, driver of the buggy in which Rachael was riding, said that Rachael was a neighbor, and that with him and his sister Mary, she was returning home. He was sitting on the laps of the two girls. William Byler was driving about 200 feet ahead of him. He said that he saw the rig of Hochstetler and the oil truck about 600 feet away. He turned his head aside to talk to his sister, and when he looked up again, saw the truck upon him, only five or six feet away. He had been driving as close to the curb as possible and the conversation between himself and sister had been over the fact that his right wheels were over the curb.

The next thing he knew, he was in the road, hanging onto the lines, and got up and grabbed the horse. He heard no warning signal from the truck, he stated.

Truck Driver Testifies

John W. Ward, driver of the truck, stated that he was employed by the Pennzell Company, and on the evening of February 11, drove the truck of the semi-trailer type to Youngstown. He was returning to Oil City after delivery of his load when the accident happened.

After stopping at the curve just beyond New Wilmington, coming from Pulaski he drove out onto the main road and noticed a string of buggies coming towards him. The front buggy had a real bright light on it. He tilted his lights down, he stated. Ahead of him was a covered wagon. In back of that a car, and then the buggy that was struck. The car could not go around because of the buggy in front of him, he said.

After the car passed, he said he looked down the road, and was sure there was nothing ahead, so he swung out around the wagon to pass it and then ran into Eli Byler's buggy. He was going slow waiting to pass and could not have been going more than 5 or 10 miles an hour at the most.

When he came back and saw the injured girl lying in the road, he became nervous and excited and yelled that a doctor be called, he stated. After he found a doctor had been summoned, he went into the house and called his boss, telling him of the accident.

Later, he said he called the highway patrol, who in turn summoned the coroner. After the coroner arrived, he was released and permitted to return to Oil City.

GERMANY SEEKS MOUNTAIN OF ORE?

Here is a view of Erzberg mountain, so-called "mountain of ore," in southern Austria, which foreign observers assert may become a potential cause of war in Europe.

To bring Erzberg within German borders is declared to be a reason why Germany would like to gain possession of Austria. The mountain, which contains 300,000,000 tons of iron ore, would keep Germany supplied with all the ore she now needs. As a result of the Treaty of Versailles, Germany lost three-fourths of its iron ore in Alsace-Lorraine, Luxembourg and the Saar. Location of the mountain is shown on map.

of a car with a man and that both were arguing.

Runs Over Body

Suddenly the man struck the girl and then pulling from his overcoat pocket what appeared to be a lead pipe, he beat her over the head until she fell to the ground unconscious.

Then while the two witnesses yelled frantically for him to stop, the man got into his car and drove over the girl, dragging the body for at least 300 feet.

Kinhult and Hanson said they both started toward the couple when they saw the man begin to beat the girl, but were unable to reach them in time. Because of failing snow they were unable to distinguish the license plates on the car.

Mrs. Paul Welsh was in charge of the music of the afternoon and introduced Miss Marian Wilkison, one of the city's talented musicians of the younger generation. She was accompanied by Miss Katherine Newbury, who later played a most interesting piano number "Pastoral" by Garth Edmundson.

Mrs. H. M. Kirk then presented Dr. John Coleman of Geneva College, who needs no introduction to New Castle women, as he is one of the favorite club speakers. Dr. Coleman usually has a wealth of information on current events of the world and Monday he had as his specific theme "The Trend Away from Democracy." He spoke of the fall of the monarchy a few years back, saying that what few kings were left, were kings in name only, and the countries had turned to democracy, but at a few years of this the people again want a change and he cited Italy, Germany and other countries of Europe who are now being ruled under dictatorship, and said the trend of the world today is away from democracy and toward dictatorship. He deplored the fact that perhaps our own country was leaning that way and said the three things that would insure the country against such a state of affairs would be: A sense of security for the people of the nation; economic independence, and for the people to have a part in the good things of life.

He concluded his talk by saying: "This problem which now confronts Europe, will soon be our problem, and where are we going? I do not know."

He answered many questions put to him by the club members at the close of his address.

ALBERT, HERO AND KING

THE tragic death of the King of the Belgians in a fall from a mountain peak near Namur will stir every heart. Albert was a hero among the rulers of the world. When the great storm of war broke over Europe he had to make a decision which in either way was momentous to his country. Germany would willingly have assured Belgium from ravage had her troops been permitted a peaceful entry. And the German connections of both King Albert and Queen Elizabeth made the decision a hard one. But neither faltered for a moment. "I have confidence," King Albert told his troops, "in your tenacious courage."

From the beginning to the end of the war the royal couple played a heroic part. From that "little corner never conquered" the identity of Belgium was preserved. The King went forth to battle, sharing the hardships of what often seemed hopeless warfare. The Queen, with equal devotion, gave her time and strength to the sufferers from the conflict. There is a memorable picture of them both in the eloquent pages of Brand Whitlock, then American Minister of Belgium.

When they came to U. S. after the war the warmth of their welcome revealed the place they had won in the hearts of the American people.

There is heroism in peace as well as in war. Albert showed that he possessed both. Having faced and escaped the perils of the one, he set himself to the equally difficult task of making the other effective. To restore the devastated areas seemed a well-nigh endless task. But his valor was not forgotten. From America and other nations came generous help. The love of his people, born of his constant loyalty to their welfare, never failed him.

Now, cut off by a sudden stroke of fate, he has gone to his eternal rest. In the records of history light perpetual will shine upon him.

STILL THE LAND OF PROMISE

The long depression has had the effect of discouraging numbers of Americans.

Many have seen the savings of years swept away in the collapse of the stock market. Others have been obliged to watch the collapse of businesses they had built up by arduous toil and painful sacrifice.

Still others have lost positions for which they had qualified by devoted application, study and the variety of experience which accrues from purposeful labor.

All have suffered and some have surrendered their faith.

But the United States, nevertheless, remains the most favored of the nations of the world. Panics there may be, drastic dislocation may occur, fortunes may be wiped away, dreams may be shattered, but nowhere else on the earth is there a more fortunate people than those of our own country.

Pessimists who think of the conditions of the past few years as being devastating will do well to remember that such "poverty" is in fact a variety of prosperity compared with the distress which has been the lot of Europe during the approximate span of two whole decades.

A return to "normalcy," as President Harding called it, may be a slow affair. It cannot be accomplished in a moment by any magical wizardry. But a complete recovery is inevitable. Not even the worst of slumps is competent to bankrupt the United States. The resources of the land itself and the genius of its people are too great to permit a continuance of decline.

If the alphabetical plans now in process do not produce the desired results, some other process certainly will. Meantime the people may rejoice in the favor which Providence already has shown them.

The American Republic still is the land of promise, and the powers which made it great will restore its splendors in all their natural glory.

THE CONSTITUTION

In these days when the constitution seems to be regarded by many persons, some of whom are in high position, as merely representing a theory of government with no binding effects, it is refreshing to learn that there is at least one man who takes an entirely different view of the instrument.

He is Federal Judge Alexander Akerman, of Tampa, Fla., who held unconstitutional the agricultural adjustment act, which forms a part of the administration's national recovery program.

"In the light of the constitution, which I read once a week," he commented in announcing his decision, "the act is so full of holes you could drive eight yoke of oxen through it."

He admitted the duty of deciding the question was an unpleasant one and that he would be "more than happy" if he could avoid the task, "but if I did I would be a coward." He then declared: "I can not let public clamor deter my ruling as I see the matter."

Whatever may be the eventual determination of the issue by the supreme court of the United States to which the question probably will be carried, one can but admire the courage of Judge Akerman. No less deserving of commendation is he for the effort he applies in studying the constitution in order to be qualified to make his decisions conform to its provisions.

UNTAMED ICEFIELDS

Admiral Byrd's recent difficulties with the disintegrating ice shelves at his projected landing spot in Antarctica's famous Bay of Wales emphasizes one of the peculiar hazards which that spot presents to explorers.

That hazard arises from the fact that no ship actually can get very close to the Antarctic continent itself in that particular region. A ship cannot be moored in an actual harbor; a base camp cannot be established on terra firma.

The mainland must be approached across this vast ice barrier and while the ice ordinarily is as stable as solid rock it nevertheless is subject to all the changes which a sheet of ice anywhere else might display.

It is partly for this reason that Antarctica exploration still is a dangerous and uncertain pastime in spite of the modern equipment and elaborate organization of up-to-date expeditions.

The sting of a bee is bitter, but its honey is sweet.

The habit of reading the weather predictions and then guessing what the weather is to be seems about as firmly fixed as any.

POPULAR COUPLES

When married couples are too attentive and polite toward each other in public, it looks like a play for favorable effect.

Usually this deduction is true. But even the evidences of a bluff are preferable to the impression made by couples who are irritable and sharply spoken to each other.

It is to be expected that there will be differences of opinion between two people, brought up in different environments perhaps, but this should not develop into a spirit of snappy rebellion when they attend social affairs.

There is a sensible medium between these two extremes which precludes unfavorable comment, even by those who most relish a bit of scandal or enjoy circulating derogatory reports about married persons.

It is a perfectly natural attitude not savoring at all of "company manners," which makes certain couples so welcome in the society of friends and acquaintances.

Only gossip-mongers get any satisfaction from association with couples who display ill temper and dissatisfaction with each other in public.

In nearly all groups you will find these grumpy, crochety, married folk.

If you can't go to a social gathering with a semblance of polite and mutually courteous understanding, stay away.

Your Income Tax

No. 20

BAD DEBTS—YEAR IN WHICH DEDUCTIBLE

To be allowed as a deduction from gross income, a bad debt must have been determined by the taxpayer to be worthless within the taxable year for which it is claimed and, where books are kept, it also must have been charged off within the same year. The necessity for this provision is obvious. If a debt could be deducted without the requirement that it be charged off the taxpayer's books, the certainty of its worthlessness would be open to question. Neither the taxpayer nor the government could be certain that a debt would not be claimed more than once.

If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction, without regard to the year when it became worthless, such charges could be accumulated to be deducted in a year when there was a large income.

The burden is upon the taxpayer to show that a debt claimed as a deduction was without value during the taxable year. A statement should be attached to the return showing the propriety of any deductions for bad debts. If in the exercise of sound business judgment a taxpayer concludes after making every reasonable effort to determine whether there is likelihood of recovery, that the debt is of no value, deduction for such debt is allowable. Court action as proof that the debt is worthless is not essential.

It is optional with the taxpayer, in a year prior to that in which a debt becomes wholly worthless, to take a deduction for partial loss of partial worthlessness occurs. If it can be shown that upon maturity of a bond, mortgage or note evidencing a debt it will not be paid in full, the partial loss is deductible.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ALL MEN ARE WOLVES

The famous mud-puddle mines of Burma, which produce nearly all of the world's rubies, have one of the strangest employees' rules in existence. In order to prevent the native workers from swallowing the precious gems, they are made to wear a "cage," a steel helmet with a mesh mask that completely covers their head and is padlocked.

And the management of the great diamond mines of South Africa compel the miners to do a lot of unmentionable things before they leave for their homes.

A SLEEPING BABY SMILES

Upon the sleeping babe a smile lingered and played a little while. And watching her so young so fair: I wondered what she dreamed of there.

Not yet, thought I, can she recall Earth's pleasures for she is too small. That lovely, winsome smile of bliss Comes from another world than this.

Still unfamiliar with delight And beauty shaped for human sight That tender dream of infancy Born of another world must be.

Ere time her memories shall o'erwhelm, Perhaps in sleep she sees the realm Where children romp in sportive mirth Waiting the change which men call birth.

Can Washington Carry Load?
Cry Is: "Let George Do It!"
Morgenthau's Power IncreasesBy LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—It is not popular to say this—but a truthful comment for must report that the people are depending too much on Washington. "Let George (Washington) do it!" is the cry.

Wherever one turns in Washington, he finds no all-wise guiding power.

He finds, instead, a chaotic progression. And where there is that, one finds waste and graft, and, eventually, the loss of liberties.

The government is trying to accomplish two things.

1. Bring about recovery.
2. Readjust the social status so as to spread earnings.

In trying to bring about recovery, the government is endeavoring to spend 40 million dollars a day. That lets the door wide open for greedy souls. Some of the money will filter through to the needy, some will set wheels into motion. Maybe that will counterbalance the loss.

Readjustment of the social status cannot be accomplished in six months through an NRA. An NRA, crudely administered, on the other hand, may get back social readjustment for decades.

"We cannot wait, now is the time," thousands cry.

That is true—unfortunately true. The march of time, the resounding footfall of events mercilessly pacing on, cannot be stopped.

Progress comes not through education and gradual readjustment, but through the crude grinding of force against force—and we of this age are caught between these forces.

THINKERS

In Washington, I learned today, there is a group of thinkers who meet regularly at the home of a learned and well-known figure.

Those thinkers not only debate the future, but are instrumental for many of the bills that appear in congress.

They believe President Roosevelt is tending strongly to the right. They believe he is guided in that by Henry A. Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury.

Morgenthau believes in "the natural forces of recovery."

He agrees largely with New York bankers. In a measure, he has to. The government must float some 10 billions of dollars in new securities.

Getting back to the thinkers, they believe the NRA has failed. They vision social regulation through only one measure—if it must be done suddenly, and without force of arms.

That measure is taxation. The best-known thinker of this group is quoted as saying, "We can stamp out social injustices only by taxing out greediness."

That phrase—perhaps simplified—may become a rallying slogan.

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1933 Central Press

TUESDAY, FEB. 20

Historic Anniversaries—1717. The Massachusetts Great Ship began. It piled up from 10 to 20 feet (aye, the Pilgrim fathers were sober men!) Cotton Mather, minister of the colony, wrote: "A man had a couple of young hogs which he gave up for dead, but on the 27th day after their burial, they made their way out of the snowbank, at the bottom of which they had found a little tansy to feed upon."

1725—A group of New Hampshire settlers provided one of those good examples which always made the Amerindians so kindly disposed toward the white men who invaded and stole their lands. The settlers found a party of 10 redmen from Canada encamped for the night around a fire. They shot the sleeping men, marched to Dover in triumph, and elevated on poles; they collected a bounty of 100 pounds for each scalp from the public treasury at Boston, were so honored that the date became memorable in the state's early history. But, of course, it was only the Amerindians who were savages and engaged in massacres.

1809—"State's rights," in effect, ended in U. S.; the supreme court handed down a decision which for the first time established the power of the federal government as superior to that of the individual state. John Marshall, chief justice, wrote the epochal decision upholding a decree of Judge Richard Peters of the U. S. district court, Philadelphia, in the case of Omstead vs. Commonwealth. The lower court had ordered Pennsylvania to pay certain prize money to Omstead, a commodore of Connecticut, for his capture of a British ship in the Revolutionary war. Pennsylvania refused to recognize the claim and pay the money. The state militia was called out to prevent the U. S. marshal from serving his order. But the U. S. won later; it was decided that a legislature of a state or commonwealth (Pennsylvania is NOT a state) cannot annul the judgment of a U. S. court. (Four years later, the power of the supreme court to review the determinations of highest state courts in cases involving the constitution, federal laws or treaties was established.)

1815—"Old Ironsides" U. S. S. Constitution, won a notable battle. In 45 minutes the Constitution, alone, defeated and forced surrender of two ships of His Britannic Majesty's navy, frigate Cyane, 36 guns, and sloop Levant, 16 guns, near Cape St. Vincent (Portugal). Constitution's loss 3. British loss 77.

1845—Veto power of president of

MORGENTHAU

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau is looked upon now as top man with President Roosevelt. He is pictured as getting the banks into line. He frowned upon the recent speech of Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, warning the banks to lend or the government would.

Morgenthau is for no change such as that. We would create a feeling of safety for banks—and have them lend "naturally."

Certain it is, the Morgenthau policy calls for constant expansion of credit—and, finally, stabilization of the dollar.

That would create a considerable rise in all prices.

HOW LONG?

How long, I asked one observer today, will prices last under that system?

"Two years—I guess," he answered. "And with that inflation will come constant business expansion, until we shall have the 1929 expansion—and bubble bursting—all over again."

"We seem afraid to attack the problem fundamentally."

What is "facing the problem fundamentally?"

"Free and unimpeded flow and exchange among nations. Until peace is declared in the trade and monetary war, there can be no real recovery. And unless peace is declared, we shall drift into anarchy."

STOCK MARKET

The stock market people thought they had regulation buried for this session of congress. They had persuaded powers that be that a bill would interrupt recovery.

But some militants hastily spring a well-thought-out bill—and the administration had to follow.

Wall Street now is trying to determine which group of professors is to blame.

NORRIS

The fightingest man in congress remains "Uncle" George Norris of Nebraska.

His whole career has been one of fight.

Now he has prepared to wage one of the biggest fights of his whole career.

He will introduce a bill, it is said, that will put the skids under lobbyism.

His bill will provide that no lawyer may collect more than 10 per cent or $2,500, whichever happens to be the lesser, from a client on anything pertaining to the government.

LARGE SUMS

Irregularities in air mail and army contract materials astound the public. But, on good authority, one hears the $50,000,000 under dispute in those two departments "are as nothing" to what eventually will be uncovered in the CWA.

Clothing Distribution Turned Over To County Relief Board By Chapter

FIRST AID CLASS WILL BE CONDUCTED

Reports of Red Cross activities during the past month were given at the meeting of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Chapter, which is affiliated with the New Castle Community Chest, at their meeting last evening.

The report of Miss Kathryn A. Hite, chapter nurse, showed 84 nursing visits during the month, in addition to which she assisted with the examination of 763 school pupils, notice of defects being given to 435 parents. She also made 60 maternity visits and 10 visits to tuberculous patients in connection with the CWA; attended five meetings, granted 9 interviews in behalf of nursing service and nine interviews in behalf of general activities.

Mrs. O. P. Brown, recently elected to membership on the board, submitted a report of the activities of the garment committee for the month of January. Mrs. Brown, who has been chairman of city production, reported that with the exception of a few articles placed in the nurse's cupboard for emergency, all of the garments have now been turned over to the County Emergency Relief Board, which is now handling the distribution of clothing among the needy.

Mrs. David Kay presided at the meeting in the absence of Chairman Julius Blaha, who was unable to be present.

Ralph F. Davis, reported that arrangements for conducting the big first aid class, which will be instructed by Dr. Willison, national Red Cross first aid instructor, are practically complete. Several tentative locations are in sight, but no definite place has been selected as yet. The class will open March 26.

PARTY IS SUCCESSFUL
The party which was recently held by the members of the Square Circle was successful in every detail, according to Miss Elizabeth Littler, president.

Those responsible for the success of the affair were: Marie Tomasello, Ann Burgo, Rose Sacripanti, Carmela DeGillo, Elizabeth Littler, Julian Littler, Antonette Isabella and Linda Maturro, assisted the committee.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—House passage of the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus payment bill by the middle of March today became the goal of the movement to force a vote despite the house leadership.

The drive in the house for passage of the Frazier-Lemke bill to refinance $8,000,000,000 of farm mortgages by the "petition route," also gathered strength.

COAST GUARDS
GO TO RESCUE

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Feb. 20.—At the mercy of a severe northeast gale, and battered unmercifully by mountainous waves against the rocky ledges off Winthrop Head, the coastal steamer Northern Sword with a crew of about 30, was foundering helplessly today, drifting close to shore and facing imminent destruction.

The patrol boat Dix from the East Boston coastguard station, was rushed to the scene and attempted to throw a line aboard and tow the steamer to safety.

Coast Guard Imperilled
Blinded by the raging blizzard, and driven shoreward by the terrific gale, the Northern Sword struck the ledges shortly after 6 a. m.

After the first impact on the rocks, the steamer foundered helplessly and was driven further into the trap of ledges.

The first SOS message was received by the coastguard at 6:30 a. m. It was signed by Captain Sorensen, of the Northern Sword and read:

"SOS. SS Northern Sword drifting ashore off Winthrop Head. Wants help immediately."

This was followed by another message, received at seven o'clock which read:

"Close in shore Winthrop Head. Only small boats will be able to come up ship. Crew in no danger."

At 8 a. m. the Northern Sword was within 800 yards of the cliff at Winthrop Head and still wallowing helplessly toward shore.

The Northern Sword, a collier cut of Norfolk, Va., left Boston last night on a return trip after delivering a load of coal here. She was light and this added to her difficulties.

NOW EATS ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:
"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic.

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6811 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Welsh Church Will Observe Anniversary Day

Forty Years Ago The First Congregational Church Was Organized Here

Forty years ago in April a group of Welsh people of this city banded together to form the First Congregational church, and now, as many of the charter members are still living and active in the church, it has been planned to have a special celebration of the anniversary.

Sunday, April 29, has been chosen as the date to observe this anniversary and there will be special services throughout the day, with the anniversary proceedings during the afternoon. Many out of town visitors will be welcomed at this time, some of them being former pastors of the church.

The First Congregational church, of which Rev. Rees T. Williams is now pastor, has a splendid record of work during all these years, struggling through the storms and vicissitudes of the forty years.

The other churches of the city are asked to join with the Congregational congregation in this event.

DR. WYNEKOOP IS RESTLESS IN SECOND TRIAL

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop today showed signs of restlessness at her second trial for the weird operating table murder of her pretty daughter-in-law, Rheta, as the questioning of prospective jurors proceeded slowly.

The 63 year old physician, whose grave physical condition brought the first trial to a sudden end, said she was eager to have "my day in court" and tell her own version of how Rheta Wynekoop died in the basement operating room.

After a brief opening session the trial was postponed until today at the request of Dr. Wynekoop's attorney, W. W. Smith, who was suffering with a bad tooth. Dr. Wynekoop showed further concern at the delay which the court holiday Thursday will cause in the trial.

Tremendous Increase In Emergency Expenditures Shown In Treasury Report

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Gold stocks of the United States piled up rapidly during the first 15 days of February and gained $73,000,000 to a total of $7,091,850,000 by mid-month.

Treasury figures available showed the results of the revaluation of the dollar and the half-month effect of the purchase of newly mined gold, the return of gold from hoard and possibly some purchase of gold in the foreign market.

Gold imported from abroad was purchased by the Treasury through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the fiscal agent, at $35 an ounce, newly mined gold at the same price and gold returned from hoard at the old statutory price of $20.67.

Gold profits by February 15 amounted to $2,807,426,000, a gain of 2,000,000 for 15 days. The profit was realized on the $14.33 ounce increase in price and on the return of gold from hoarding.

Operations in silver remained insignificant. Bullion holdings in the general fund, reflecting the purchases of the newly mined product, gained $324,000 in the first 15 days of February. Silver bullion thus held amounted to $35,981,000 as compared with $14,347,000 January 30, 1932.

Emergency expenditures were beginning to increase at a tremendous rate and for the first half month amounted to $241,993,000 as compared with $51,171,000 for the same period last year. This brought emergency expenditures for the July 1-February 15 period to $2,205,826,000 as compared with $640,029,200 a year ago.

Owing to the tremendous gold profit, a $439,000,000 gain in miscellaneous internal revenue and processing taxes of $214,036,000 for the first seven and a half months of the fiscal year, there was a surplus of $666,855,000 on February 15, as compared with a deficit of $1,984,813,000 the previous year.

Receipts for the seven and a half months amounted to $4,620,000,000, an increase of $3,416,000,000. Miscellaneous internal revenue for this period totaled $930,883,800. At this rate, coupled with an anticipated increase during the rest of the fiscal year, internal revenue receipts will total over $1,500,000,000 for the 12 months.

Despite the heavy borrowing and spending program of the government February 1-15, there was comparatively little increase in circulation during the period. Federal reserve notes in circulation, February 15 totaled $3,189,000,000, a gain of $24,000,000; federal reserve bank notes, $223,208,000, a decline of $3,415,000, and national bank notes, $867,820,000, an increase of $1,248,000.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

New Castle News Co.,
Geo. W. Conway, Editor.
Dear Sir:

IN MEMORY OF GENERAL WASHINGTON

From early childhood to venerable age he mingled in social and political intercourse with its people; its representative in the house of Burgesses; vestryman in its old Christ church; he surveyed its streets and founded and endowed its first free school. Here in 1755 he received his own commission in the English army under Braddock; here to the freholders of Fairfax county he first announced his espousal of the cause of the Colonies; here he called in March 1785, the Maryland and Virginia commissioners to confer on boundaries and the right of impost duties and navigation between the two states. This council adjourned to Mount Vernon and from there issued an appeal to the several states which resulted in the convention at Philadelphia in 1787 which framed the Constitution of the United States. Here in 1799 he held his last military review and cast his last ballot; and here, January 20, 1800 Colonel George Denzale, Master of the Masonic Lodge and Clerk of the court recorded his will. It was the scene of his early social and political triumph. The starting point of the greatest epochs in his life; here he conferred with his neighbors on solemn questions of states and determined upon the cause of action to pursue.

General Washington attended a Christ church in the city of Alexandria. In 1773 he purchased a pew in that house of worship for which he paid the sum of thirty six pounds and ten shillings and after that time when at home was a regular attendant at this church. In those days each family had two pews, both facing each other. The writer of this article sat in the so-called Washington pew in the above named church and will describe as follows: Over front door entrance was a choir loft or balcony where the choir furnished the music and when they were in charge of service, you cross and occupied the other pew thus facing the balcony. At present the interior of the church has been changed but the pew of Washington has been restored to its original design.

As to the Masonic Lodge No. 22, General Washington showed much respect to the order. One gift that Washington valued highly was a little trowel of silver with an ivory handle. It was made by John Duffey, a silversmith and was used by General Washington, president of the United States at laying of the corner stone of the National Capitol, September 18, 1793. The ceremony briefly described marks an epoch in the history of American architecture and was conducted by the Grand Lodge of Maryland, which at that time and until 1811 held jurisdiction over the present District of Columbia. The Grand Marshal presented to the commissioner a silver plate appropriately described which was read and delivered to Washington who with the Grand Master pro tem and the three Worshipful Masters described to the excavation trench and laid it on the corner stone of the Capitol of the United States. The last important occasion on which this trowel was used was to lay the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple in Washington D. C. by President Teddy Roosevelt and the Grand Masters of the District of Columbia.

General George Washington died at Mount Vernon, twenty minutes after ten o'clock P. M. Saturday, December 14, 1799, and his body was deposited in the tomb at a few minutes after three P. M. on Wednesday, December 18. Washington was laid to rest in the highest order of the Masonic Lodge. Its citizens formed his funeral cortege. Its soldiers sounded taps and paid the only military tribute at his grave; its ministers conducted his funeral service; its Masons deposited the apron, glove and evergreen on his Bier and pronounced its ancient benediction by Alexandria Washington Lodge No. 22 A. F. & A. M.

The above described items in memory of George Washington, The First President of These United States at which time the Nation will again celebrate on February 22.

Yours with respect,
G. D. GLOSNER,
R. D. 3, City.

Works 30 Years To Gain Citizenship

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 20.—Persevering in his quest for naturalization that began over 30 years ago, Ignas Telmont, 56, a Lithuanian, has finally gained his citizenship papers.

Telmont has appeared regularly at naturalization courts since his first attempt in 1903 but always failed in his effort to become an American citizen because of a lack of knowledge of the constitution of the United States.

His constitutional knowledge not having increased much since then, Judge Albert L. Watson observed, "This man seems persistent and persevering in his desire for citizenship. He is older now and he probably will never learn any more. He should be admitted."

A Real Treatment For CATARRH

Spray those catarrh stuffed nostrils with fragrant, balsamic OpeX tonight—clean out all that disgusting mucus and breathe all night long thru purified nostrils as you sleep like a top.

Spray again tomorrow morning and breathe Nature's pure air through clean nostrils instead of through the mouth—takes but a minute a day to achieve such astonishing results.

All druggists say use this astonishing formula for 30 days and then if you haven't banished that bothersome catarrh that has bothered you so long get your money back—a 7 weeks' supply (one bottle) costs 75 cents.

Figures that Speak

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company presents figures from its Annual Statement for 1933 and makes comparisons which show how the Company has carried on during the five difficult years since 1928

THROUGHOUT a period of almost unparalleled world-wide depression the institution of Life Insurance in America has furnished an example of achievement that wins admiration wherever it is understood.

Between January 1st, 1929 and January 1st, 1934, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which insures the lives of more than 25,000,000 persons—nearly one-fifth of the total populations of the United States and Canada—paid to its policyholders and their beneficiaries more than Two Billion Dollars ($2,000,000,000).

During the same period, its policyholders contributed, through their premium payments, toward the increase of more than One Billion Dollars

($1,000,000,000) in the assets held for future distribution to themselves and their beneficiaries.

After payment, during that period, of more than Four Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars ($450,000,000) by way of dividends to policyholders, the Company's surplus was increased by more than One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000).

These figures, of one company alone, are striking evidence of the reliance which the people of the United States and Canada place on the security and protection of life insurance.

Life Insurance is the most effective and satisfactory means of providing for the future of one's self and one's dependents.

Twenty-seven instruments of all kinds were recorded at the register and recorder's office last week, against twenty-five the previous week.

There were nine deeds and thirteen mortgages, compared with ten deeds and eleven mortgages, the previous week. The total amount of the mortgages was $36,798.87. Of this number four totaling $9,650 were given to building and loans; five totaling $7,521 to individuals; four, totaling $16,018.70 to the Home Loan Corporation and one, $3600 to the land bank commissioner.

Home Loan mortgages are beginning to play an important part in the number of mortgages recorded, the amount $16,018.70 being one of the largest for any recent week.

Attorney J. W. Rhodes, president of the Lawrence County Bar Association is co-operating with Isaac Sobel, president of the Erie County Bar Association, in an effort to have a large attendance of the lawyers of Lawrence county at the Erie annual bar banquet to be held in the Lawrence hotel, Saturday, February 24th at 6:30 p. m. Indications point to a good representation from this county.

The speaker of the evening will be Attorney-General, Hon. William A. Schnader, whose subject will be "The Lawyer and The Law."

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has returned from a trip during which he took a prisoner from the western penitentiary to Farview hospital where he will undergo treatment for mental trouble. The prisoner was John Prender, who was sent up from

Lawrence county on a charge of burglary, and who was serving a sentence of from four to eight years. Sheriff Pritchard says that the trip was made without incident, the prisoner giving no particular trouble.

County Commissioners have received an invitation to attend a meeting at the Penn-Croft hotel in Grove City on March 1, when the proposed workhouse for Lawrence, Butler, Beaver, Mercer and Venango counties will be discussed. Two meetings have already been held by officials of the counties named, one being in this city and one at Butler.

Family Joyful—Dad's RHEUMATISM Has Left Him

When a man so crippled with rheumatism cannot go to his daily work and suddenly finds a swift, powerful yet safe prescription that drives out pain and agony in 48 hours you can imagine the jubilation of the whole family as Dad brings home his pay envelope regularly again.

Eckers' of New Castle, Inc., and leading druggists everywhere call this grand prescription ALLENTU and think so much of its mighty power to drive excess uric acid from the system that they guarantee one 85 cent bottle to overcome backache, sciatica, neuritis and lumbago just as this notice states or money back—a square deal to all sufferers.

the meetings further than a general discussion of the proposition. Most of the other counties are in about the same shape as Lawrence financially, and do not have the funds to invest in a workhouse at present. If a bond issue is made for the erection of a new court house in Lawrence county, it is hardly likely that the county would want to incur any more debt by erecting a workhouse.

County commissioners are studying the contract which has been sent by the PWA for their signature. Under this contract the county would issue $500,000 worth of four per cent bonds for the erection of a new court house. Interest on these bonds for the first year would amount to $23,000, and at the end of the year the county would be expected to redeem, $29,000 principal amount of the bonds, making a total outlay for the year, of $52,000. Provision for the payment of this amount does not appear to have been made in the budget which the commissioners made up when the tax levy of nine mills was fixed last week. The only amount specified in the budget is $12,000 for Federal projects.

Preparations are being made by the Lawrence county Bar Association for the annual banquet to be held at the Field club on Thursday evening, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday. In addition to commemorating the birth of the father of our country, the event will mark the 50th anniversary of the admission of two members of the Lawrence county bar, former Judge J. Norman Martin and Attorney S. L. McCracken. Both are expected to relate some of their experiences during their half century of practice.

Harrisburg To Award Trophy To City's Branch For Hiring Record

An attractive loving cup will be awarded to New Castle's Federal-State Employment office because, in the words of A. W. Motley, Harrisburg, state director of Pennsylvania's employment offices, "the New Castle office made the highest percentage of relief placements and was the only office under our jurisdiction that placed 50 percent of CWA workmen from the relief rolls."

Motley's letter of commendation was received at the employment

headquarters today. It was full of praise for R. L. Meermans, supervisor, and the entire office staff.

Under a federal rule all employment offices were to take 50 percent of the CWA men from the relief rolls and the other 50 percent from the group of self-sustaining unemployed. Here figures reveal that 51 percent from relief and 49 from the unemployed group not on relief.

The employment branch here is a full-time office.

Department Of Public Instruction
Announces Plans For Spelling Events

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—
"I'm sorry that I spelt the word;
"I hate to go above you
"Because—the brown eyes lower fell;

"Because, you see, I love you."
So mused the poet, Ralph Greenleaf Whittier, over the spelling "bee" in the schoolhouse by the road—"A Ragged Beggar Sleeping—"

As part of the centennial celebration of the signing of Pennsylvania's first free school law, the spelling bees that Whittier made famous with his "In School Days" will be revived, the Department of Public Instruction announced today.

Only persons whose schooling is finished will be permitted to compete. Each county will stage its own preliminary contests to pick its entrant for the state finals on April 4 where the best "old time" speller in the state will spell down all others.
Special appeal is made for contestants from older folk who knew the real spelling bees of the rural schoolhouses.

Other phases of the centennial program here will be dramatizations illustrating the passage and defense of the free school laws by the legislatures of 1834 and 1835 and to show educational progress over 100 years.
The week of April 1 to 7 has been designated Pennsylvania education week and programs are being planned in every individual school district.

Each year Turkey and Greece ship us thousands of bales of fine tobaccos—

But why send 4,000 miles for tobacco?

...because spicy, aromatic Turkish is the best seasoning there is for a cigarette.
It adds something to flavor and Chesterfield uses Turkish tobacco—from Samsoun, Smyrna, Cavalla and Xanthi.

Then it blends and cross-blends them with various kinds of choice home-

give you a cigarette that's milder, a

DANDRUFF Ends Overnight!

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get some plain, ordinary liquid arvon;
apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c). This simple remedy never fails.

A good program has been arranged

Weekly Health Talk

"In these days of so-called personal liberty social conversation is likely to involve the subject of drinking. And, while the topic is usually discussed from an alcoholic standpoint, it would undoubtedly be beneficial to many were they to devoted part of the time now employed on mixtures and types of potatoes to a thoughtful consideration of the proper use of water," states Dr.
Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.

"As a matter of fact some people have reduced their water intake to an extreme minimum. Not craving water, they do not drink. For many persons the establishment of a regular water drinking habit is likely to prove highly beneficial.

"The intake of water, like the intake of food, should be based upon visible to drink water at meals on the theory that the digestive juices were thus diluted. It is now believed that drinking water in moderation at meal time is not harmful.

"Mineral and laxative waters also have their proper places in the water program, but anything more than occasional use of these fluids should be based upon professional recommendation rather than personal whims.

"In short, the use of water demands an intelligent and understanding attitude; the golden mean applying in the matter just as strongly as in the other rules of health."

PLAN HEARINGS ON RIVER TO LAKE CANAL PROJECT

Hear Advocates Of Four Routes

Ohio River-Ashtabula Route Backers To Be Heard At Youngstown

PUBLIC HEARINGS ALSO SCHEDULED

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 20.—Proponents of each of the four routes suggested for the proposed Ohio River-Lake Erie canal will be privileged to present the evidence justifying their particular routes at public hearings early next month. Major W. D. Styer, district chief engineer, U. S. Army, said today.

Although dates were subject to change, Styer said that March 8 and 9 had been tentatively set for hearings at Oil City, Pa., and Dayton, Columbus and Youngstown, Ohio. The purpose, Styer explained, was to hear from civic, business and industrial leaders the "economic justification" for each route. The meetings will be followed by public hearings.

Oil City has been selected as the site for the public hearing on the Allegheny River-French Creek route for the proposed waterway.

Supporters of the Beaver-Mahoning route from Pittsburgh to Ashtabula, O., will be given their hearing at Youngstown, O., on or about the above dates. This will draw from western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio points, including the steel centers of New Castle and Sharon.

Parties interested in the Cincinnati-Toledo waterway will be given a hearing at Dayton, while those behind the Portsmouth-Sandusky route will meet for hearing at Columbus.

AROUND CITY HALL

Whether or not properties have been refinanced with Home Owners' Loan Corporation bonds, owners must pay existing interest and penalty, according to city council. They made this decision after Solicitor White had informed them that in one instance a request had been made that the owner be allowed to pay the back taxes at face and the city exonerate the interest and penalty.

The order has gone out that magazines which are considered obscene must go off the shelves of local business houses.

Apparently there was a cross-up in that story about each policeman paying $12.50 to take the examination to become a police radio operator. From what the chief of police, J. F. Haven says, the test cost nothing. The cost of taking the police to Pittsburgh for the examination cost approximately $13.00, he reports.

About a year ago city of New Castle spent $600 for floodlights at the New Castle airport. There is no night attendant at the field, because operations there at the present time are at a standstill. No doubt some way will be found to turn on the floodlights in case an airplane is in distress at night.

It is said that under the law a warning light must be placed to that "silent boy policeman" at North street and Neshannock avenue.

"Club Rackets" In Philadelphia Being Cleaned Up

Slaying Of Policeman Spurs Officers In Wiping Out Chartered Racket Clubs

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Spurred by the slaying of Patrolman Harry Donahue, police today doubled their efforts to wipe out the "chartered club racket" in this city.

Donahue, a plainclothes policeman, was shot down while gathering evidence against the Braidwood Social Club, characterized by police as a speakeasy operating with special privileges obtained through a fraudulent charter.

Three bullets from the "gat" of a criminal released from the Eastern penitentiary less than two months ago for "good behavior" pierced the patrolman's abdomen, chest and temple. Death late yesterday followed two blood transfusions.

The alleged killer, Joseph Deni, 33, said he mistook Donahue for a gunman "out to get me." Deni, police said, is a veteran of 18 gunfights with gangsters and police. His body is marked by 11 bullet scars.

Love Letters Startle Court In Dean Trial

Letters Written By Late Dr. Preston Kennedy To Dr. Dean Read In Court

DEFENSE MOVES FOR MISTRIAL

(International News Service) GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 20.—That the romantic Dr. J. Preston Kennedy ardently wooed and had planned to marry Dr. Sara Ruth Dean, on trial for her life on a charge of giving him a poison highball, as recently as last July, was revealed today as the defense began to unfold its case.

Letters written to Dr. Dean by Dr. Kennedy in which he spoke of their "condition engagement" were introduced at the trial. One of them said:

"I am miserable. I love you so much I would give up everything in the world for you. I am yours if you want me."

Some of these letters were dated the same month that the state alleged Dr. Kennedy was poisoned at a farewell party with Dr. Dean and within a few days of the time his divorced wife has testified he was to remarry her.

Sensation Created

The letters created a sensation in the courtroom. Introduction of the letters by the defense closely follows testimony by Mrs. Bessie Barry Kennedy, former wife of the dead physician, that Dr. Kennedy had told her repeatedly that Dr. Dean was as repulsive to him now as she had once been attractive, that she meant nothing to him and that he was through with her for the rest of his life.

Mrs. Kennedy was the last witness called by the state. After she left the stand the defense moved for a mistrial on the grounds that the state had not established the fact of Dr. Kennedy's death and that it had not established beyond a reasonable doubt that he died as the result of any particular poison.

Hundred Thousand Miners At Work In Anthracite Mines At Present

(International News Service) SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 20.—Although the snow storm gripping the eastern seaboard left death and disaster in its wake, it brought cheer to the anthracite region where production today is at the highest level for several years with more than 105,000 men reported at work.

The new cold wave, coming on the heels of a previous cold snap that depleted surpluses and filled order books with demands for anthracite was expected to provide several weeks work for miners throughout the entire region.

Hundreds of additional men were called back to work today and payrolls for the first half of February which become due next week were expected to be the largest for many months.

The anthracite institute reported that the severe weather had created heating demands 16 per cent above normal, a condition that was reflected in the wave of orders for anthracite that kept railroad men on the run supplying sufficient cars.

Chicago Shivers; Coal Truck Men Decide To Strike

Freezing Weather In Chicago And Homes And Apartments Shiver; Coal Bins Are Depleted

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Chicago felt the pinch of a depleted coal supply today with temperatures below freezing as efforts to negotiate a truce in the strike of 7,000 union fuel handlers met with failure. State's Attorney Thomas Courtney charged that the strike was fostered by hoodlums labor racketeers.

In the face of threats to use the entire police force and even militiamen to guard coal yards and delivery trucks the strike spread today to include 3,000 members of the General Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' Union in the western suburbs.

Police protection will be given to all dealers asking it, acting Police Commissioner Matthew Zimmer announced. If necessary, State's Attorney Courtney said, a request will be sent the governor for national guard troops.

Deliveries had virtually ceased with collapse of peace negotiations. Many apartment buildings and residences, depending on frequent deliveries this year, had empty bins following an 8 degrees above zero cold spell.

Pre-School Survey Nearly Completed

One of the most complete pieces of CWA work which will be turned in to the authorities here will be the pre-school survey which was conducted by 25 men and women under the guidance of the superintendent of schools.

Not only was the survey made in an efficient manner but there is now being prepared a series of charts showing how the population of the city is divided, the various nationalities represented, the percentage and kinds of children's diseases and a host of other information.

The charts are being prepared by Martin H. Mills and when completed sets will be sent to the state administrator, the local administrator and to school authorities in Harrisburg.

FIREMEN ANSWER ALARMS MONDAY

City firemen answered two alarms Monday, the damage being small.

Around 1 o'clock, they were called to the home of William Barch, of rear 415 Taylor street, where children playing with matches had set fire to a bed. The loss was approximately $25.

At 11:10 last evening, they were summoned to the home of Mrs. Frank Dunlap, of 206 Walnut street, where it was found the furnace was overheated, causing a smell of smoke in the home. There was no damage.

Thousands have Ended their Bowel Worries by taking this advice!

Can constipation safely be relieved? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say the many thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not likely to cure your constipation with salts, pills, tablets or any of the habit-forming cathartics. But you can safely relieve this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

THE LIQUID TEST:

First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative. Second: take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord.

Simple, isn't it? And it works! The right liquid laxative brings thorough bowel action without using force. An approved liquid laxative (one which is most widely used for both adults and children) is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, and perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna, a natural laxative; the dose can be measured, and the action thus regulated to suit your individual need.

If there are children in your household, don't give them any fad form of laxative, but use a healthful, helpful preparation like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Its very taste will tell you it is wholesome, and agreeable to the stomach. Delightful taste, and delightful action; there is no discomfort at the time, or after. Ask your druggist for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, all ready to take.

A Frank Statement Concerning Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

We believe the use of pills and tablets containing mineral drugs is rapidly giving way to gentle regulation of the bowels with a liquid laxative.

We believe Dr. Caldwell's original prescription of fresh herbs, pure pepsin, and senna is the ideal family laxative.

And we know it is a safe preparation for children and expectant mothers because it does not cause bowel strain or irritate the kidneys.

Rickenbacker Happy Over Success Of His Record Breaking Hop

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEWARK AIRPORT, NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 20.—Flashing across the nation through snow, storms and bad weather, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, World War flying ace, on Monday brought his big Douglas air liner down at Newark airport at 1:01 p. m., 13 hours and 5 minutes after he left Los Angeles carrying the last Transcontinental airmail cargo under the old private contract system, to set a new record for the flight for transport planes.

Only Three Steps
The "semi-stratosphere" dash, speediest on record for a big passenger ship, was made with only three steps enroute, one at Albuquerque, N. M., the second at Kansas City, the other at Rickenbacker's home town, Columbus, O., where the big ship was fueled.

This correspondent, who made the flight with a party of aviation officials and newspapermen, found the traveling comfortable, even when the pilots and passengers had to take oxygen as the liner climbed to an altitude of 18,500 feet east of Columbus to ride over a snowstorm which obscured the dangerous Allegheny mountain peaks.

Climbed to Ceiling
The last third of the flight, from Columbus to Newark, was made in a haze of snow and mist which obscured the countryside and forced

Capt. Rickenbacker to climb to his ceiling to avoid the storm. Hitting 210 to 220 miles an hour, the big ship tore eastward from Pittsburgh in a world of its own until near Allentown, Pa., where the weather lifted and the pilot nosed it down to follow the regular commercial route to Newark.

Rickenbacker, obviously overjoyed at the success of his record-seeking flight, climbed from the cabin grinning as attaches of the airport rushed out to aid in guiding the ship to the landing line.

Rickenbacker Happy
This shows what commercial aviation can do," the war time ace said, looking at his watch to check his elapsed time.

"Do you think it will stand as an example to the army pilots who take over the air mail routes?" he was asked.

"It speaks for itself," he replied.

New Feats Possible In Photography

Take Pictures Under Universal Circumstances By New Methods

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—Through use of an emulsion sensitive invisible infra-red rays, photographers can now accomplish hitherto impossible feats, such as:

Take pictures in the dark with the heat of a flat-iron instead of the conventional "flash".

Photograph landscapes or objects through fog.

Make aerial photographs over as great a distance as 300 miles with perfect clarity, regardless of fog conditions.

Detect disease conditions beneath the surface of the skin.

Read the originals of ancient manuscripts otherwise obliterated by censorship or defacement.

Actual photographs taken under these conditions were exhibited before the recent convention here of the Pennsylvania Photographers association by A. B. Cornish, special representative of a camera company.

Use of the infra-red rays, which are at the opposite end of the spectrum from ultra-violet, were developed for photographic process within the past few years by research, Cornish said.

The new process is highly beneficial to aviation interests, enabling pilots to "see through" fog, according to Cornish. He said its use is not expensive and can be understood by any amateur photographer.

Sheriff Edward Pritchard was the speaker at the Monday meeting of the Ministerial association at the First Presbyterian church. He gave a brief resume of his experiences as a mill worker, as a soldier and as a public official. He described the duties of his office as sheriff, told of conditions at the county jail, and related what was being done for the welfare of the prisoners. He expressed his earnest desire to cooperate with all right-thinking people in Lawrence county in the promotion of law and order. After his talk he answered a number of questions from the floor. A motion was unanimously passed by the association which expressed the appreciation of the body of the work of the sheriff and which pledged him the support of the ministers and their churches in his efforts to maintain good government so far as his office affords him the opportunity.

A report of the men's mass meeting of Sunday afternoon was made and ways and means were discussed for furthering the cause of social righteousness in our community.

New Castle High Defeats Pitt Freshmen 29-25

Reiber-Hitchens Stars Of Battle

Collegians Outplayed By New Castle High Quintet In Floor Game Here

Rowe And Jesko Stars For Pitt Freshmen; New Castle Team Impressive

New Castle High School basketball team, Section Three champions met and defeated a team of former high school stars, now Pitt Freshmen last night at George Washington Junior High floor. The score was 29 to 25 and it was a fast and furious engagement from start to finish. The Pitt freshmen started out well, but failed to finish as strong as the Bridenbaugh quintet. Reiber, Hitchens, Jesko, Emerick and Rowe stood out quite prominently in the game.

The New Castle boys started slowly last night. For the first two periods the Pitt Freshies held the lead. It was the last half finish that gave the victory to New Castle over the collegians, rated one of the best Pitt Freshmen basketball teams of all times. New Castle had to play basketball all the way to upset this University of Pittsburgh team led by Luke Rowe, former New Castle High star.

Pitt Freshies Lead
At the end of the first period the score stood at 6 to 5 in favor of the Pitt Freshmen, with Ferguson and Jesko credited with field goals and Rowe and Emerick with fouls. For New Castle Reiber had a field goal and foul, while Komine had a pair of charity throws and made both of them good.

In the second period the Pitt Freshies again flashed to the front with eight points, and New Castle matched them with a like number. Reiber, Kelly and Ostrosky had field goals and Komine and Ostrosky had fouls. For the Pitt Freshies Jesko made two field goals and Lasky made one, with Lasky and Rowe dropping in fouls.

After the usual intermission during which time Coach Bridenbaugh pointed out to the New Castle team a few of their mistakes, the locals came back with a determination and piled up eight points and held the Pitt Freshies down to seven points. The score at the end of the third period was 21-21. Hitchens made two field goals and Reiber and Komine dropped in double-deckers. For the visitors Madden a sub for Ferguson dropped in a pair of field goals and Garcia a sub for Emerick made a field goal, with Rowe making a foul.

Locals Stage Comeback
In the fourth and final period New Castle turned "On the heat" They held the Pitt Freshies to four points and made eight themselves, giving them a 29 to 25 lead at the end of the game. It was an uphill climb but the New Castle boys were capable Reiber made two more field goals in the fourth chapter and Hitchens made a like number. Emerick had the only points for the Pitt Freshies a pair of field goals. In fouls New Castle had 5 out of 8. The Pitt Freshies made 5 out of 12.

Butler Next
The game served as a "tune-up" for New Castle to the Butler and Union games to follow and for the elimination games in the W. P. I. A. L. tourney. New Castle learned last night from the Panther Cubs.

New Castle will play Butler High at New Castle Friday night in the final Section Three game.

Westminster Prepares For Great Pitt Battle At Stadium Pavilion

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 20.—With 19 victories and three defeats to show for their efforts so far this season, Coach John Lawther's Westminster College basketball players are trying to get enough rest so that they will make a great showing against the Pitt Panthers at Pittsburgh on Wednesday night.

The Titans played Waynesburg on Friday night, Bethlehem on Saturday night, and Allegheny last night, and clearly look the part of a team which has had two road games and one home contest in four nights. If the men can get back in top form for Wednesday's important game, they hope to give Doc Carlson's Panthers a battle.

Coach John Lawther believes that the improvement shown by Pitt since the first of the season would indicate that the Golden State have "he advantage. Added to this, he points out that Carlson's teams are practically unbeatable on the stadium pavilion floor. As a result, the Titans hope to make a showing comparable with the fine showing they have made in previous games this year.

Western Pennsylvania Amateur Team Wins Ten To Six

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 20.—Arguments as to whether New Jersey or Western Pennsylvania contained the best amateur pugilists had been effectively squelched here today for Western Pennsylvania fans by a 10 to 6 victory by local Simon Pures.

It was an exceedingly easy slugfest for the lads. Only two knockouts were recorded on the card of 16 bouts. Billy Soose of Farrell, got one of these technically when Referee Freddie Masterson stopped his bout with Riley Martin, of Morris-town, N. J. Martin had taken four counts in the second round and two minutes and 40 seconds had elapsed from the going.

William Wassill, of New Salem, was credited with the only clean knockout when he put Carmen Gagliardi, of Trenton, into dreamland two minutes and 14 seconds after the second round began.

Rev. John F. O'Hara Stoutly Denies Charges Made In Carnegie Report

(International News Service)
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 20.—Charges contained in a Carnegie Foundation report that Notre Dame University exploits its football teams to a commercial end at the expense of Academic achievements were denied today by the Rev. John F. O'Hara, C. S. C., vice president, and Director of Athletics Elmer Layden.

Replying to the charges of President Emeritus Henry S. Pritchett of the foundation, the Rev. O'Hara said: "We believe that he has started with a false assumption that highly publicized football is inimical to the intellectual interests of the University. We wish to reiterate that if we ever found it to be the case we would drop football without a moment's hesitation."

The Rev. O'Hara, statement defended the three year football agreement between Notre Dame and the University of Southern California, which drew Dr. Pritchett's fire.

Carnera Not Impressive In His Workouts

Heavyweight Champ Fails To Arouse Much Enthusiasm In Boxing Fans

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 20.—Considering the fact that Corbett was one to five against Sullivan, Tunney one to three against Dempsey and that the fabric of all boxing history is woven into a pattern of colossal failure on the part of men who couldn't go wrong but somehow did, it seems noteworthy today that Carnera is at least one to three against Loughran. It even seems more than that when you consider the fact that Carnera is training by the absurd system. This course is elective, to get the best out of it, you don't have to be eccentric, but it helps.

Without going into too many particulars, I'm thinking of the fact that I stood and watched a heavyweight champion, heavily clad in boxing gloves and otherwise something less than a brasseur, run two blocks through the rain yesterday from one training ring to another.

Carnera Comical.
They had started out there in the unprotected end of Carter's Pier. But a totally unlooked for an extraordinary rain blew up, all rains being extraordinary in this section, with the result that the various devotees of the absurd system scuttled down the street to the nearest gymnasium. The absurd system prohibits the use of an automobile. In fact, if you don't do everything the hard way, you just aren't being as hard enough and it simply does not count.

Frankly, things have become so comical in the champion's camp that even the fighter has begun to notice them. He complained to an acquaintance the other day that he felt as alone down here as a man on a monument.

Manley Injured.
"Nobody gives me any attention," said he, plaintively and I might add, not altogether accurately. George Manley, for instance, is giving him plenty of attention. Manley is the sparring partner who was not around yesterday for the workout. They said he was still suffering from the effects of a low punch that Carnera landed the day before, but a few of those whose minds are skeptical said that it wasn't so much that Manley needed a little less of Carnera but that Carnera had had enough of Manley.

The latter is just another prizefighter, and, besides, he's been around so long he must be older than Landis, nevertheless, he has hit Carnera on the nose so often that that organ has become acutely painful to the slightest touch. The fact is, Manley's left is by no means slight, so everybody is beginning to wonder whether Manley wasn't ready yesterday or Carnera wasn't ready that Manley wasn't.

Correct this sentence: "No politician would stoop so low," said the politician, "as to steal the money appropriated for the poor."

Union To End League Season At Karns City

Wampum High School basketball team will go to Karns City tonight for the final game in Section 18 of the W. P. I. A. L. and Coach Boyd will no doubt use a lot of his subs.

The boys have already sewed up the section title and are awaiting the elimination play-off game with New Castle High on Friday night March 2. Coach Boyd will probably start his regulars with Todd and Boron at the forwards, Schaas at center and White and Morrison at the guards.

Union defeated Karns City at the Union High floor earlier in the year. Zelenople was the only team able to defeat Union in Section 18 this year.

Wampum Quintet Takes 25 To 23 Victory Over Mt. Jackson In County League Game

EVERSOLE AND MACALUSE STAR

Wampum high school basketball team handed the Mt. Jackson high school a neatly wrapped up surprise package last night at the Mt. Jackson high floor 25 to 23 in a scheduled Lawrence county high school battle in which Macaluse and Eversole were the high-point getters. In the preliminary game the Mt. Jackson high girls defeated the Wampum high girls 17 to 15.

In the boys game at the end of the first half the Wampum team held a lead of 15 to 10. Mt. Jackson played better basketball in the second half and toward the end of the game were only trailing 23 to 22, but a field goal clinched it for Wampum.

Eversole Stars
Eversole with 15 points hold the spotlight in the game while Macaluse of the losers had 10 points and Thompson had 11 points.

The next game for Mt. Jackson will be Friday night when Coach Spears takes his charges to the East Brook high floor.

Butler High Is Next For Locals

New Castle High School basketball team will end their Section 3 season Friday at George Washington Junior High gym by meeting the Butler High quintet. Butler is in second place in the league, with no chance to overtake New Castle even if they trip the Bridenbaughs.

One week from Friday night New Castle and Union will tangle at the George Washington Junior High floor in the first round of the W. P. I. A. L. elimination tourney.

CATHOLICS WIN GAME.
Catholics basketball team took another hard earned victory over the South Side Merchants at the Lincoln gym 34 to 28. DeCaprio, Genlock, Rubin, Yerga and Reda featured the game.

GERSONS SPLIT
Gersons basketball team split in two games played at Sharon, Pa., last week. The Gersons upset the fast Sharon Bon Tons 35 to 16, with Teplica, Battley, and Huff starring, and then lost to the Turner Oils by a score of 35 to 29, in a game which was replete with thrills. Battley and Huff played good basketball in the defeat.

Westminster Toys With Allegheny College In Game At New Wilmington

ALLEGHENY GETS ONE FIELD GOAL

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 20.—Westminster College basketball team handed Allegheny College a handsome lacing last night at the Westminster gym 45 to 10. Coach D. Lawther did not use his regulars very much preferring to save them for the Pitt game Wednesday evening. Altogether the Westminster coach used 17 players.

Captain Billy Douglass was high scorer with 11 points, while Willis a sub forward had nine points and Leyshock had six points and so did Bennett.

31 to 4 At Half
Allegheny was held to a lone field goal, one by Berger in the first half of the battle. At the end of the first half the Titans led 31 to 4. The Westminster second and third team played most of the first half and almost the entire time in the second half.

The Allegheny team couldn't get through the Titan defense to score. The only two regulars who didn't score for Westminster were Hunneke and Sweeney.

The Westminster team had nine fouls and Allegheny shot eight free throws and made them good.

McGraw Fighting Greatest Battle

(International News Service)
NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Feb. 20.—John J. McGraw, famous former manager of the New York Giants and one of the best known baseball figures in the country, was fighting desperately for his life today in the New Rochelle hospital.

McGraw, who is 61, was taken to the hospital last Friday suffering from uremia, a kidney ailment, and most of yesterday and last night he was reported in a coma.

At 3:30 a. m. today attendants at the hospital said McGraw was "resting comfortably," and that although his condition was "grave," death was not expected immediately.

The baseball leader's personal physician, Dr. Louis B. Chapman, spent most of the early evening at McGraw's bedside.

Only two persons were permitted to see McGraw yesterday. They were his wife and Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants.

New Ruling Will Hit New Castle Returns

Another queer rule has been handed down by the officials of the W. P. I. A. L. this time concerning the split in the receipts of championship basketball games. The new rule provides for the net receipts to be split among the contending teams on the basis of the number of tickets sold by each school in advance of the game.

Previously the receipts have been divided as follows. The W. P. I. A. L. has taken its cut, the expenses of the game have been paid and the teams shared fifty-fifty. The new rule will work to the advantage of the teams in the Pittsburgh district and to the disadvantage to such teams as New Castle.

Many fans in New Castle have waited heretofore until the afternoon of the day of the game before deciding definitely whether they would attend. Weather and highway conditions have been the deciding factor. Teams around the edge of Pittsburgh have no reason to take this into consideration.

Under the new rule if New Castle sold 100 tickets at home and 1000 fans went down to the game and the opposing team sold 500 tickets and no more attended from that town, the receipts would be divided 80-20 in favor of the other team, regardless of the fact that hundreds of Pittsburgh fans would be in attendance at the game.

The only hope for New Castle under the new rules is for as many fans as possible to get their tickets in New Castle and not wait until they go to Pittsburgh.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Bill Andrews, one of the prime movers in the Lawrence County league, has hopes of Ellwood City taking out a franchise in the circuit this season. Connie Wardman, deputy sheriff, said a few days ago that Ellwood City would probably be willing to take out a franchise providing a league of fast teams is reorganized. Universal Pottery baseball officials are casting their eyes around for a baseball field and with Bessemer, Croton, West Pittsburg and other teams getting ready to talk baseball tonight at the Sport Goods store, definite steps toward the 1934 circuit will probably be made. Tonight's meeting will start at 7:30 p. m. and last one hour, according to Andrews.

Although he has only an outside chance to win the title, Allen Hall, Chicago, delivered a serious blow at the defending champion Welker Cochran of San Francisco in yesterday's play at New York. He beat Cochran 50 to 37 in 48 innings and this dropped Cochran into a tie for third place. Augie Kieckhefer, Chicago, beat Tiff Denton, Kansas City, 50 to 35 in 44 innings and Kinley Matsuyama, Japanese star, ended his tournament schedule by winning from Alfredo De Oro, 50 to 13 in 38 innings.

Ellsworth Vines defeated Henri Cochet, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, at New York last night. The win gave the United States a clean sweep in the two single matches of the professional tennis meet with France. In the first match Bill Tilden won from Martin Pila, 6-4, 6-3, 11-9.

Harold Elliott, former big league baseball player who died recently was buried yesterday at San Francisco. ... John Pepper Martin, Cardinal third baseman has signed his 1934 contract. ... Al Brown of Panama defended his world bantamweight title by beating Young Perez, Tunis, in 15 rounds at Paris.

The branch circulation in January was 14,676. The circulation in the different branches follows: Mahoningtown 3,825; South Side 5,481; James Memorial hospital, 187; East Side, 4,802 and New Castle hospital 381.

BALTIMORE, Md. Feb. 20.—Interviewing a prisoner under difficulties—dodging police to get a word in edgewise—the answers come in fragmentary fashion—"Tell the kids to lay off, they can't beat this game."
It's "The Owl" talking. Sort of queer for him. These mobsters—and Basil ("The Owl") Banghart is asserted a henchman of the terrible Touby gang—are tight-lipped usually.

Taken To Chicago
The train is rocketing along, en route from Baltimore to Chicago where "The Owl" will face charges of abducting John (Jake The Barber) Factor. Jake's aboard the train too, along with Chicago detectives who are guarding three other members of the gang, two of them women.
The same old question: "Does crime pay?"
"The Owl's" face wrinkles in a sneer at his interviewer. Then the answer comes, explosively: "Pay? No, it doesn't pay!"
He catches himself up short, ruminates a moment.
"Look feller—get this—these kids ought to lay off. Too much of this 'career of crime' stuff. They can't beat the rap. They ought to realize it. Maybe, for a while, yeah—but in the long run, you can't beat it."

He's beginning to loosen up now, but with considerable reluctance. Thus:
"I'm not getting soft, see, or anything like that. But these kids. You understand. They ought to think it over a long time—This idea of fast living, quick thinking. Yeah, and quick shooting, too."
Think It Over
"They ought to think it over now—Because they'll sure think it over a long time if they get caught later."
"This movie stuff, heroizing gangsters and guns and shootings and apartment lay-outs. The kids oughtn't to pay any attention to it. They wouldn't feel like heroes if they were on the dodge, trying to beat out the cops, waiting for the pursuit to break so they could get out in the air."
"How about going back to Chicago—How did he like the idea?"
"Like it? That's a question—Let's talk about something else."

Hates Photographers
Then a break in the interview while "The Owl" lunged at a photographer about to shoot a picture of May Davis, his sweetheart.
"Why the — don't you let that girl alone? She hasn't done anything."
"Yeah, and I wish they'd lay off taking my picture too. I don't want to hurt my mother and sisters—After all they're innocent, too."
So, "you can't win," if you're out to beat the law, and that doesn't come from police posters in the subway.
It's the hard bitten philosophy of The Owl. And he ought to know.

Maj. Adams Urges Single Police Agency For State

By JOHN W. SEOTZIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—Coordination of all municipal and local police forces into a single state police agency, devoid of politics, manned by trained officers, and governed by a centralized control, is advocated by Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the Pennsylvania state police.

Major Adams, who has nurtured the idea for 15 of his 28 years in police service, said in support of his proposal:

"I have long felt that the public's thinking on this matter is a bit antiquated. In a good many states, the people cling jealously to local autonomy. They seem to believe there is something intrinsically virtuous in keeping authority in the hands of local officials."
"But in the field of crime detection and prevention, local authority no longer seems to work very well. The reason is perfectly obvious, the locality has grown until it extends far beyond the borders of the county."

Major Adams asserted that the modern principles of community policing are based on antiquated methods and were set up in the days when the locality was measured by the distance a man could travel in a day. Today, he pointed out, the mode of transportation has changed, making the state the locality.

He suggested that all state, city, borough, and township police be organized into a state police system, paid by the commonwealth and directed by a director general. The latter, under his proposal, would be appointed by a state commission, comprised of a supreme court justice, a superior court justice, and three judges of the common pleas courts, each to serve so long as he holds his office as judge.
The commission, Major Adams continued, would be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, and would have authority to remove the directing head for "dishonesty, inefficiency or physical disability."

He stressed the point that his suggestion does not contemplate upheavals or dislocations in local forces but rather the induction of these units into the state police system. The plan, he said, would also tend to gradually eliminate the dishonest, the inefficient and the unqualified after they have been given ample opportunity to readjust themselves to the change.

"It contemplates a gradual readjustment of personnel into police districts, independent of city boundaries, and that every policeman shall be a state policeman with a state wide authority," Major Adams declared.
Observing that "there is no calling in the world that is beset with so many temptations as the police," Major Adams held that the policeman should promise its members a career, not to be influenced by politics.

Final Chance For Ex-Service Men To Become Citizens

Friday, February 22 marks the end of the privilege by which an ex-service man or woman of the World War can become a citizen by merely presenting an honorable discharge. This custom has prevailed since the World War and thousands of aliens who served to advantage of the citizenship offer.

Because this practice will cease on February 23, the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion wants to aid as many men who are still aliens as it can. Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, who is chairman of the Americanization Committee of the post will aid any ex-service alien who wishes to become a citizen. There is no charge for the service, it being a part of the service program of the post. His offices are in the Temple Building.

D. S. Pyle Lands Some Big Fish

New Castle Man Has Success As Fisherman In Florida Coastal Waters

Florida coastal waters are showing a shrinkage in fish this season since David S. Pyle, general manager of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company decided to do some fishing. In one day, fishing in the deep waters off Port Lauderdale, his party caught 13 Kingfish and one barracuda.

Mr. Pyle caught ten Kingfish himself, weighing from 10 to 20 pounds each and a Barracuda that measured 48 inches in length. The barracuda is known as the "Tiger of the Seas" and the battle lasted half an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Pyle are guests of the Los Alos Inn at Fort Lauderdale.
